WAS POSTPONED.

The Rifle Match is Interfered With by Stormy Weather.

The Hawaiian Rifle Association was obliged to discontinue the rifle shoot yesterday on account of the stormy weather.

After waiting about an hour for rain squalls to pass by, a start was made, but the storm soon increased, carried several targets away and made it so unpleasant that it was finally decided to postpone the shoot.

The citizens' match was carried on at fair intervals and is to be continued when the Association has its postponed meeting.

Mr. F. S. Dodge, chairman of the Range Committee, acted as officer of the day, giving perfect satisfaction in his pleasing manner.

12-PAGE EDITION.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1893

It is expected that the Appropriation bill will be signed and presented to the House this morning. This will leave about thirty bills undisposed of. Some of these will probably never be reported, others can be killed on sight. If the House is diligent and holds night sessions a prorogation might be reached within a week.

THE reasons which moved Her Majesty not to sign the Immigration Act have been communicated to the Cabinet, and also given to the public. By these it appears that she was in full sympathy with the objects of the bill, and that her scruples were of a legal nature merely, being based upon certain points of constitutional, or supposed constitutional law. As the Cabinet advised the Queen to sign the bill, we are compelled to infer that she has some other legal adviser besides the Attorney-General.

THE REGISTRATION ACT.

The Registration Act is coming up for consideration again this morning, and Rep. Ashford is out on the war path armed with a deadly amendment which is warranted to kill the bill if it is given the chance. The bill, for the purpose of identifying Chinese laborers, provides for a general registration of the entire male population. Mr. Ashford's amendment proposes to exempt from the provisions of the Act all laborers to be brought into the Kingdom under the provisions of the new Labor law. This will in practice nullify the whole bill, as no one knows better than Mr. Ashford himself, who has been a consistent opponent of the measure from the beginning.

If experience teaches anything, it teaches that laws which have a special reference to Chinese are utterly useless, unless accompanied by some system of identifying the Chinaman. There is no use in providing that Ah Sam shall not work at the carpenter's trade, if Ah Sam can say his name is not Ah Sam, but Tung Wo. A system of registration which does not register every single Chinese in the Kingdom will register nobody at all to any purpose, and might as well be abandoned before it is begun. Universal registration is the sole condition to identification, and without identification no laws can be enforced against Chinese, as every lawyer knows. Mr. Ashford's amendment must, therefore, be rejected if the bill is to be adopted.

Now as to the merits of the bill. It has just one single object, and that is to protect Hawaiians and foreigners from Chinese competition in the trades. If it is passed, laws restricting Chinese to agricultural employments can be enforced. If it is not passed, such laws will be a dead letter. This is the case in a nutshell: Do mechanics and traders wish Chinese competition or not? If they do, friends of mechanics and traders will know how they have to vote in the House. The issue is plain; it is on this point alone, and it cannot be dodged.

Just one argument against this bill has been advanced. In order to be just and fair, the bill proposes to register everybody, not Chinese alone, and the enemies of the bill say that no Anglo-Saxon will submit to be registered, that the idea is inconsistent with the dignity of a man and a freeman, that it is imported from effete despotisms, etc., etc. Yet Republican France has this system. We all submit to be registered in order to vote, and think it no grievance. We are all registered whenever the census enumerator comes around. The directory registers us, and we do not make the heavens ring with our complaints. Why is registration proper, natural, just and easy to be borne in all these old instances, but vexatious, oppressive and unendurable as proposed in this bill?

The truth is, that whether the Government shall or shall not "keep track" of the citizens is a question of political expediency simply. It does not offer occasion for any declamation about the rights of man. If there is a sound reason of state for putting our names down in a Government book, why, let us go and put our names down like good citizens and sensible men, and make no more fuss about it.

HANA SNAP SHOTS.

Murder, Suicide and Stabbing Affray.

The quiet of the last two weeks seems to have been the calm that precedes the storm, for during the past seven days we have had a murder and suicide, a stabbing affray and a lively Christmas celebration.

Last Sunday two Japanese laborers at Kipahulu celebrated the Sabbath by frequent and heavy indulgences in the flowing bowl. Toward 5 or 6 o'clock in the afternoon the "load" they had on board mounted to their heads, and after a slight altercation one drew a knife and stabbed his chum several times in the arm. Dr. T. Allen dressed the wound, which was quite serious, but when Sheriff Reuter asked the Japanese for his assailant's name and the cause of the quarrel he became as silent as the proverbial oyster. As all efforts to induce his countrymen to give any information were futile, the case had to be dropped.

On Monday, the 26th inst., quite a tragedy was enacted at Hana. A Japanese laborer most brutally butchered a Japanese woman and then took his own life. Facts are difficult to obtain in the case as all the Japanese are very close-mouthed over the affair. As near as can be learned, however, the feud is one of some week's standing. It seems that the man became infatuated with the woman, but she, being the wife of a contract laborer, did not reciprocate. This so enraged the murderer that several weeks ago, meeting her on the Government road, he beat her with his fist in a shocking manner. The woman had him arrested and he was fined $20. After this everything ran smoothly till Monday afternoon, when, meeting his victim in the Japanese quarters, he attacked her with a cane knife which he was carrying. The woman screamed for help, and several of her friends ran up to her, but the man threatened to chop them all up, and as they were unarmed they ran away. He gave his victim one more blow, which almost severed her head from her neck. Then he dashed into the cane field below the quarters with the police, who had by this time arrived, in close pursuit. When found, however, he had cut his own throat and was dead. The woman's wounds were carefully dressed and every care lavished upon her, but the chances of recovery are extremely doubtful. Her name is Omizi, and that of her assailant Namoto Kordichi.

Mr. Oscar Unna entertained his friends at Kipahulu on Christmas. In the morning a shooting match was held at the Kipahulu Rifle Range. It was a sweepstake and was won by Mr. Stranch. All the scores were small, as a very high wind interfered seriously with good marksmanship. After the match Mr. Unna and his guests repaired to his house, where all sat down to a most sumptuous Christmas dinner. Everything the most fastidious palate could desire was there, and the ample justice all did to the good things provided was a sincere compliment to the skill of Mr. Unna's chef de cuisine.

After the dinner a band of musicians whiled away the hours, and all departed with three hearty cheers for the givers of the entertainment.

Mr. C. M. V. Forster has resigned his position of sugar boiler for the Reciprocity Sugar Co. and returned to Honolulu last week.

Mrs. D. Center and family are spending the holidays at Spreckelsville as guests of Mr. H. Center.

The "Bachelor's Club" of Hana will give an outing on New Year's Day at the Hana Park. Among the sporting events to take place are races, a shooting match, a tug-of-war and a cricket game.

The weather has been pleasant during the day, but at night heavy rains have been falling.

THE LEGISLATURE.

One Hundred and Sixtieth Day.

SATURDAY, Dec. 31.

The House met at 9 A. M. Roll call: Twenty-five members present. Quorum at 9:15. The minutes were read and approved.

At 9:25 A. M. the House proceeded to the ORDER OF THE DAY.

Third reading of Bill 147, Opium bill. The consideration of the bill was postponed till Rep. Ashford, the introducer, be present.

Third reading of Bill 91, an Act authorizing the Minister of Interior to acquire certain lands at Wailuku for laying water pipes, and to compensate for the same.

Noble Walbridge opposed the bill. The Wailuku people had all the water they want now for domestic and other purposes. It was folly for the Government to lay water pipes.

Noble Hind also opposed the bill. Rep. Kanealii was not in favor of the bill. Residents of Wailuku have petitioned him to oppose the bill.

Rep. Edmonds, the introducer, gave his reasons why the bill should be passed.

Noble Young and Rep. Nawahi likewise objected to the bill.

Noble Cornwell favored the passage of the bill: $8977 had been expended for pipes for Wailuku Water Works in 1888. The drawback was there was no kuleana. The appropriation of $15,000 passed this session is sufficient to supply Wailuku and Kahului with good water.

Rep. Smith observed that members from Wailuku were divided on the subject. Noble Walbridge opposed, while Noble Cornwell favored.

Rep. Edmonds said that Rep. Kanealii belonged to North Wailuku, while the bill was for South Wailuku. He moved that the bill be given to the Minister of Interior to report at the session of 1894.

It was lost on the following division:

Ayes—Minister Robinson; Nobles Ena, Maile, Kauhane, J. M. Horner, Hind, Hopaili, Marsden, Young, Walbridge, Anderson and Dreier; Reps. Kanealii, Smith and A. S. Wilcox—15.

Noes—Nobles Berger, Hopkins, Pua, Peterson, Williams, Cornwell, McBryde and Kanoa; Reps. Wilder, Bipikane, Aki, Pua, Nawahi, Kaunamano, Kamaooha, Waipulani, Kapahu, Nahinu, White, Edmonds, Kalua, Josepa and Akina—23.

Absent—Ministers Wilcox, Jones and Brown; Nobles Cummins, Baldwin, W. Y. Horner and Thurston; Reps. Kaubi, R. W. Wilcox, Bush, Koahou and A. Horner.

The bill passed third reading.

A motion to re-consider was lost.

On suspension of rules, Minister Robinson replied to questions of Rep. Ashford as follows:

Question 1.—The department has received no information of this fact from Her Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary at Washington, but, under date of December 21, Hon. F. S. Pratt writes announcing the receipt by him of the following telegram:

Washington, Dec. 20, 1892.

F. S. Pratt, Hawaiian Consul General, San Francisco.

Exequatur granted, 17th; papers about ready; will mail them.—MOTT-SMITH.

Question 2.—In connection with the statement made in the previous answer, the following answer may be given: The department forwarded the commission of Hon. Frank S. Pratt as Consul-General at San Francisco to His Excellency J. Mott-Smith, at Washington, on October 19, with instructions to procure the exequatur and forward it to San Francisco. In a dispatch from His Excellency the Minister, dated Washington, November 17, His Excellency states that the commission of Hon. F. S. Pratt, as Her Majesty's Consul-General in San Francisco is in hand. As we have so recently obtained the exequatur of Mr. J. B. Maholin as Vice-Consul, at the cost of some courtesy on the part of the State Department for its immediate issue, I have delayed asking for the exequatur for Mr. Pratt until I am notified of his arrival in San Francisco from the Consulate. This course will not embarrass Mr. Pratt in his official functions, as I can notify him by telegraph of the issuing of the exequatur.

Question 3.—By the previous answers it will be seen that Her Majesty's Minister at Washington acted upon his own responsibility, and contrary to the instructions of my predecessor, Hon. Samuel Parker, who, on the same date (October 19) instructed Vice-Consul Maholin to telegraph to His Excellency the appointment of Hon. Frank S. Pratt. By telegram from Boston, dated November 10, His Excellency informed the Vice-Consul that the commission had been received.

Under suspension of the rules Rep. Ashford gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill providing for a subsidy for a steam mail, freight and passenger service between Honolulu and the ports of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

The bill was read for the first time.

Noble Williams reported several bills printed.

Third reading of bill 147, the Opium bill.

Clerk McCarthy read the bill section by section.

Rep. Smith moved the indefinite postponement, to save reading.

The ayes and noes were taken on Rep. Smith's motion, resulting as follows:

Ayes—Minister Jones; Nobles Ena, Peterson, Kauhane and Young; Reps. Waipulani, Josepa, Smith and A. S. Wilcox—9.

Noes—Ministers Wilcox and Robinson; Nobles Berger, Hopkins, Pua, Williams, Maile, Hind, Hopaili, Marsden, Cornwell, Walbridge, Anderson, McBryde, Kanoa and Dreier; Reps. Wilder, Bipikane, Aki, Pua, Kaubi, R. W. Wilcox, Nawahi, Kaunamano, Kamaooha, Kapahu, Nahinu, White, Kanealii, Edmonds and Akina—32.

Absent—Minister Brown; Nobles Cummins, J. M. Horner, Baldwin, W. Y. Horner and Thurston; Reps. Bovi, Koahou, A. Horner and Kalua.

A motion to reconsider was lost. Clerk McCarthy then proceeded to read the bill.

Minister Wilcox announced that the bills relating to Duties and Election laws were presented to Her Majesty for signature on Friday and the Appropriation bill on Saturday morning.

A motion to adjourn was lost.

The bill referring to smoking was suspended at 12:15 P. M.

Rep. Pua proposed an amendment to Section 39, providing that the Minister of Interior shall engage the services of a licensed auctioneer to sell the licences. Passed.

At 12:52 P. M. the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was lost.

The House then adjourned until 9 A. M. on Tuesday.

KOHALA NOTES.

A great many people imagine that they have seen the reflection in the sky from some volcanic glare to the southward. The nights have been unaccountably light during the dark of the moon. Now, of course, the moonlight is so bright that the lesser illuminations are un-noticed. At about midnight of Thursday, the 22d, the elite of Kohala were awakened by an earthquake. It was strong enough to make the glassware jingle, though no subterranean noise accompanied it. Almost immediately afterwards a second slight tremor was felt. We had just got asleep again when still another considerable shock was felt, though not quite so violent as the first.

The Halawa Mill Co. had some cane injured by fire last week. The fire was accidentally communicated to the cane from some fires lighted to clear off a new piece of land near by. They have started grinding the damaged cane and the loss will not be much. Union Mill began grinding on Tuesday, the 27th. It sounds familiar to hear the mill whistles calling for cane. The rumor of the failure of Aseu and Akina was hardly correct. This firm, feeling the pressure of hard times, sold out to the Niuli Mill Company.

Christmas festivities were of the usual order. There were gifts exchanged, and Christmas trees were set up in the various parlors, and stockings were hung up, and there were family reunions and all kinds of delightful events that belong to this season of the year. One of the pleasantest of our public affairs, was the Chinese Sunday School Christmas tree. Miss Turner who so ably fills the position of Principal in the Chinese School at Makapala, has charge of the Sunday School in which she has good helpers in the persons of Miss Hoppin, Miss Powers, Mr. Yong Shun, the pastor, Mr. Yon Tong and others. The Chinese children from all this district were there, and acquitted themselves admirably. The church was decorated with Chinese lanterns and illuminated screens, and paper-work that was a marvel of ingenuity. There was a great feast of candies and cakes and fruits, and a great deal of joyous noise and gleeful chatter. As it was a rainy night, and many of them came long distances, these made a night of it in the church, and awoke refreshed and cheerful for a church service in the morning, and a pleasant journey homeward in the Christmas sunshine.

The foreign church was beautifully decorated on Christmas morning. A large five-pointed star of lilies was at the back of the church above the pastor—a beautiful and appropriate emblem. Pulpit and choir railing were wreathed with maile, and there were ferns and foliage and flowers. The pastor, Mr. Ostrom, gave us an appropriate sermon, and the singing was exceptionally good; there were two beautiful double trios arranged for ladies' voices, but the finest part of the service was the full chorus "Brightest and Best," arranged by Buck. The closing hymn was grand old Antioch, in which the audience heartily joined, making a most happy close to a beautiful Christmas service. There was a larger audience than usual present, among whom were Miss Helen Wilder and her cousin, Miss Lita Wilder, now on a visit with friends and relatives here, as is also Miss Hassinger, of Honolulu.

Owing to a severe Kona blowing the Kinau was unable to effect a landing at either Kawaihae or Mahukona. She was signalled to land at Kohala, where there was smooth water; in fact the Kaukae-aouli was at the time loading with sugar. But they went on to the ravine between Halawa and Niuli, where the passengers and mail were landed, the ladies being carried ashore on the shoulders of the stalwart boatmen. Several of us have been disappointed in receiving our Christmas gifts, and one or two Christmas dinners were short in the matter of dessert. But we can wait for our presents. And what we lack of delicacies at our dinners will be made up for in the substantial elements, and the charming hospitality that the crown and glory of our life in Hawaii. This Christmas season has been a particularly one in the annals of the festive denizens of North Kohala.

Our usual New Year's ball, off on Wednesday night, it held at that early date as a of courtesy and esteem to Mr. Bryant, who left next day to a position as sugar-boiler at Oahu. The ball was a great success, elaborate collation being served. The string band, dances, delighted us with songs, as is the agreeable custom in this country. The hall decorated with flags and and was well filled with a and animated throng, who continued to "chase the glow" with flying feet" till the began to melt in the early dawn. Kohala, December 30.
